Question 2.08

TOTAL POINTS 1

1. The correlation between tuition and rate of graduation at U.S. colleges is 0.55. What does this mean? 1 / 1 point
- ☐ The way to increase graduation rates at your college is to raise tuition.
 - ☐ Increasing graduation rates is expensive, causing tuition to rise.
 - ☐ Students who are wealthier tend to graduate more often than poorer students.
 - ☒ None of the above.

Correct

Correlation means only that some sort of relationship exists between two variables. The 0.55 correlation is positive, so we know that schools that have higher tuition rates tend to have higher graduation rates. However, we don't know anything about why this is true. Correlation only asks IF a relationship exists.
